

From the last part of Chapter 1: Annabelle's ponytail flopped here and there as the savages carried her off. Annabelle's scared green-blue eyes searched for Connor, but she could not see him then she got shoved into a wooden crate with bars. Annabelle thought, where am I? What is this place?

Chapter 2 Chief

The savages were talking amongst each other and one savage said

"We found something for dinner tonight Chief"

The Chief replied, "Good, what did you bring? You shall be rewarded later."

"I brought something I found on the beach it squirmed, kicked, and yelled," replied the savage

Meanwhile Connor was running through the trees as fast as he could, he was getting whipped by tree branches, but still did not slow down. Suddenly, he stopped. There was the savage camp and he saw the crate that held Annabelle. He had to come up with a plan if he was going to save his sister. Just then a savage was approaching, and Connor quickly dived behind a tree and held his breath. The savage walked off. I am lucky, Connor thought.

Connor began looking for items that he could make a weapon out of. He found a nice long stick that was bendable. Out of the corner of his eye, he saw a vine hanging from a tree and he had a great idea. He heaved and pulled the vine as hard as he could finally he got it off. Then he tied the vine to the bendable stick and made a bow. Now he just needed some arrows. Just then he remembered seeing a really strong, straight stick when he was chasing after Annabelle. He began retracing his steps to where they crashed on the beach and decided he would go slowly this time. Finally, he found what he was looking for, but it was in a thorn bush which had some berries. He made a mental note in his head for when they were looking for food. He reached his hand in the thorn bush. Once he grabbed the straight stick, he quickly pulled his hand out.

"Ouch, I got some thorns in my hand," said Connor. Frustrated, he pulled the thorns out. He made a couple of arrows out of the stick. Then he stepped on some sharp pointy rocks. He thought those could be some arrowheads, but...

"Ow, that hurt," said Connor angrily. Connor was pacing back and forth trying to think of a plan. Then all of the sudden Connor fell face first into the water. After spitting water out of his mouth he got up to see what he stepped on. A few feathers were scattered around. That must have been what I slipped on, he thought. He used the feathers to help keep the arrow steady. Now time to practice shooting.

"I've missed ten times now" said Connor as he walked to get his arrows again for the fifth time. Finally, he hit the target! He was ready to save his sister.

Connor raced back to the savages' camp, he shot arrows at everyone he saw and missed a few times, then he ran out of arrows he had to retrieve them, and quick! After finding all his arrow, he ran over and broke one of the bars of the cage Annabelle was in.

Connor yelled, "Come on Annabelle, get out quickly before they come back!"

Annabelle was already climbing through the bars and was running off before Connor could even finish his sentence. He ran after her as fast as he possibly could. They ran for what seemed like hours and finally they felt safe enough to stop. They began looking around for something to build a shelter out of and food to eat.

Working together they built a shelter out of wood, vines, and rock. It was a sturdy shelter that kept the rain out. They began searching for food and found edible berries and used the bow Connor made to hunt for food. Later that week they found a dog on the island and started taking care of it. After a bit of arguing, they settled on the name Chief for the dog because he protected them from the savages and their Chief.

They lived like this for two whole years with only minor run ins with the savages. One day, Annabelle was collecting seashells off the shore, so she could make a collar for Chief and she saw a boat. She ran screaming to Connor
"A boat, a boat! Hurry we must signal them."

They put up red vines that waved in the wind to signal the boat and then they hid just in case the ship was up to no good.

The ship saw the vines and headed towards the island. When they got on shore they saw the dog Chief barking at them. Chief kept barking and trying to bring the people in their direction. Chief was a good judge of character, so they knew those people must be good. The people approached them and saw them hiding the women said,
"It's OK, you don't have to be afraid. Who are you?"

The children climbed out of the bushes and Connor said,

"I am Connor, and this is Annabelle, my sister, we have been shipwrecked on this island for a very long time."

The man replied, "We will take you back to your parents, they must be worried sick."

There was barely enough room on the ship for Connor, Annabelle, and Chief. For most of the trip back home Chief sat on their laps.

When they got back home their parents ran out to them and were so happy to see them. From then on Annabelle never wanted to do something different than school.
