

Prologue

The future is born.

The purple haired wizard was wearing a black cloak. She looked around the room and poured her energy into the three children – a brown haired girl, a blonde girl, and a blonde boy. A cat jumped in front of the blonde girl! A dog did the same to the boy!

“What have I done?” asked the wizard to herself. Amazingly someone responded!

“Created a new species, with the help of me and Arachey, the dog. I did not know part of us could go into the children. As for the brown-haired girl, you have made her a wizard. It is a dying species that receives her powers when she turns thirteen.... Your own daughter - human born! That is very strange if you ask me. The first time ever that two wizards had a human child without powers. It is the same as the other two.... but put the boy up for adoption because he is old enough to remember everything. Until he gets new parents, nobody must know.”

The wizard was astonished! “Who are you?!”

He replied, “Jurong of the clan of human protectors, an animorphid animal, age 1.”

The wizard responded, “No one will believe him Jurong of the clan of human protectors, an animorphid animal age 1. I can’t put him up for adoption!”

“ You can call me Jurong, Protector of Children. You must do so, or he will awaken and arise to destroy all humankind!

“Who?” gasped the wizard in response.

“When they turn thirteen, you will know,” replied Jurong, Protector of Children.

“What? Jurong Protector of Children, I have many questions! Jurong!”

After that, the wizard went to an adoption center and said she can’t afford to take care Rik. He was up for adoption. All was safe for now.